1 met him, I only saw him on the TV a few months ago, he looks
2 like a broken man, he did that day anyway. But he was a very
3 mysterious, very --

4 MR. OLSEN: To use the house term, he was a spook?

5 MR. MARCHETTI: Yes. He was a very exotic character.
6 And all kinds of stories float around about Jim Angleton. And
7 I am sure that some are nothing more than apocryphal and some
8 are pure rumor.

9 What intrigued me about this Runge thing is that
10 subsequently another reporter -- and this time the guy identi-
11 fied the man he had been talking to -- the man he had been
12 talking to was Bill Harvey, who was one of the people respon-
13 sible for exposing Philby, in fact Philby gives Harvey the 14 credit in his book under a pseudonym -- that Harvey said to 15 this guy, oh, yes, the Agency -- to this reporter -- yes, the 16 Agency has been penetrated, it may even be now -- he made some 17 pompous statements of that nature. But then when the guy tried
18 to dig deeper, Harvey held him at arm's length.

19 MR. OLSEN: Who is Harvey?

20 MR. MARCHETTI: Bill Harvey was a scenario officer.

21 ~~He had been, among other things, Chief of Base in Berlin during~~

22 ~~the Cold War.~~ He had been Head of the Cuban task force.

23 MR. OLSEN: Which Cuban task force do you refer to 24 now? The one that was organized --

25 MR. MARCHETTI: Within the Agency, the Agency's own

1 Soviet defectors and people who claim to be and have subse-
 2 quently been found to be legitimate defectors.

3 MR. MARCHETTI: You mean found to be illegitimate
 4 defectors?

5 MR. OLSEN: No, found to be legitimate defectors --
 6 well, either way.

7 MR. MARCHETTI: Well, they would turn up from time to 8 time. Usually I didn't have any direct dealings. They were 9 handled by the Clandestine Services. But you would know the 10 case. There is the famous case of [REDACTED] (?), [REDACTED]
 11 [REDACTED] who said that he was a KGB plant [REDACTED]
 12 [REDACTED] and he is the one that many people on the 13 extreme right like to point to as having identified all kinds
 14 of agents within the US Government. Eventually I got to the 15 point where he was taking out ads in the newspapers to the 16 effect that he is the tsaravitch, he had survived the shooting,
 17 and the legal claim and the throne.

18 At this point you don't know if the guy was nuts all
 19 along, and I don't know what the official thinking about it
 20 at the Agency is.

21 But there have been a number of others over the years.
 22 There is [REDACTED]

23 MR. OLSEN: How do you spell his name.

24 MR. MARCHETTI: [REDACTED]

25 These names are a matter of record. You will have

1 defecotrs which you believe to be questionable as to whether
2 or not it comes within the charter of the CIA?

3 MR. MARCHETTI: No. As I say, I have no first hand
4 knowledge on this subject.

5 You remember the [REDACTED] case?

6 MR. OLSEN: Yes. You mentioned that in your book, I
7 believe, don't you?

8 MR. MARCHETTI: I was in the Agency at the time that
9 happened, but I knew practically nothing about it in the Agency.
10 For one reason, I didn't pay any attention to it. I had no
11 reason to. But it was after getting out of the Agency.

12 This happened to be a case where [REDACTED] under Agency
13 orders, was directed to [REDACTED] as being a Soviet agent. [REDACTED]
14 [REDACTED] And [REDACTED] apparently to this day claims
15 absolute innocence, and said that he was framed, and it was 16 done for other reasons, because he didn't see eye to eye with the 17 Agency.

18 MR. OLSEN: You don't know the story behind that, I
19 take it?

20 MR. MARCHETTI: No. But you could find out. I don't
21 know what the Agency was doing. All I know is that Helms
22 submitted some sort of Affidavit which the judge accepted, and
23 on the basis of that the case was resolved in favor of [REDACTED]
24 He had to identify [REDACTED] as being in the Agency's employ and 25 acting under orders from the Agency. The reasons why, they are

1 seem to work properly except in the US. And I am wondering what
2 kind of use in the US you might be aware of?

3 MR. MARCHETTI: That wasn't what I meant by that.
4 What I meant was, it worked good under laboratory conditions
5 here, but when I would take it out to the field, it wouldn't
6 work.

7 MR. ROETHE: You weren't referring to any use of these
8 beams here in the US?

9 MR. MARCHETTI: No, I was not.

10 But that is that system that people are talking about
11 now, the laser people bugging system, where they can get a
12 building across the street there and direct a beam here and 13 pick it up. It has become quite popular in recent years, at 14 least they talk about it.

15 MR. OLSEN: You mean in the spy literature?

16 MR. MARCHETTI: Yes.

17 MR. ROETHE: At page 196 you refer to monitoring of 18 embassy traffic from Maryland and Virginia. Were you referring
19 to CIA's activity in monitoring, ~~for NSA?~~

20 MR. MARCHETTI: ~~NSA~~

21 MR. ROETHE: You are not aware of any CIA activity of 22 this nature?

23 MR. MARCHETTI: No, not here in this country. ~~and~~

24 ~~in fact, the only case that I was aware of overseas that the CIA~~
25 ~~did it, if they did it at all, they did it because NSA, for~~

1 ~~certain political reasons, the Government didn't want NSA in~~
2 ~~there, the military personnel~~

3 MR. ROETHE: There is one reference to breaking into
4 embassies at page 199. And there is no reference to any
5 particular embassy. Are you aware of any activity where the
6 CIA was actually implicated in breaking into an embassy? You
7 have already talked about the Cilean Embassy.

8 MR. MARCHETTI: This was based on information that was
9 available in the Houston Plan, which by that time had become
10 public. And also certain background information about ~~the~~
11 ~~capabilities of the NSA in the technical field,~~ and certain CIA
12 clandestine abilities. And it was all rolled into one as a
13 supposition.

14 MR. ROETHE: On page 207 you indicate that many
15 individuals at CIA were pressing for action against the KGB
16 here in the US as the FBI was not doing a good enough job?

17 MR. MARCHETTI: Yes.

18 MR. ROETHE: Do you know of any actual operations that 19 were ever taken by the CIA, or do you have any evidence of such 20 operations?

21 MR. MARCHETTI: No, I do not.

22 MR. ROETHE: On page 216 you refer to training of 23 New and Chicago police. What kind of training are you referring 24 to, or do you know?

25 MR. MARCHETTI: That is just it. I am not exactly sure
