calling for the establishment of a coalition government in Colombia through bi-partisan efforts. from November 1956 to February 1957 LLERAS served as a United Nations Observer to investigate the Hungarian situation.

LLERAS is described as a champion of the Pan American cause and as being very friendly to the United States and a firm believer in the Western type democracy.

Although he did not complete his education and has no formal degree, he has long been addressed as "doctor" as a matter of courtesy. He does, however, have honorary degrees from several Colombian universities as well as from the University of California. He speaks English and French, is married to the former Berta PUGA (daughter of a late President of Chile) and has four children.

On 24 February 1958 ²⁴ an Operational Approval was granted for the utilization of LLERAS in support of a special operation. However, before the operation was implemented, LLERAS was elected President of Colombia. There has been no operational interest in him since.
