CIA - State Dept. integration

"Big leaf" cover - when S.D. employees are aware that CIA emp. is in fact employed by S.D.
 More integrated cover where a person would do a full-time S.D. job & also at CIA job which is unbeknownst to rest of S.D. employees. - could be a "deep official cover" as well as a "deep cover"

Central Cover Staff

Am. citizens or most foreigners being used in some manner would, as a general rule, have a security check.

If that person was an official of another govt. agency or from military,
 that org. would have to be consulted.

Probably would use that org.'s

PLS - Policy & Co-ord. Staff

↳ would be involved in co-ord. of a project in which both the CIA &
 another org. was involved

To the extent of CIA involvement, files would be maintained. That is not to say that other would not have more comprehensive files.

as it possible, in context of a CI threat, in case of an hypothetical that info. would not be compiled in a 201 file. Yes, it is conceivable that many docs. could exist in the system & not be compiled into a 201 if there doesn't appear to be a need for a 201.

crypto: hard to id. area of sps. by digraph, followed by group of letters
You cannot assign a cryptonym w/out having a 201 #

If suppo.^{am} Soldier ~~has~~ ^{has} given away mil. secrets & then defects, a 201 file would not necessarily have been opened - it might be a mil. matter.

CI staff may have had interests in deflection

In early 60's, there was an interest in defectors.

Davis says based on ZEPHIRE:

574 A form: request to put doc. into system

? 1897

3a op. such as ZRRIFL does may be severely F.I.L - might ^{never} go into system except upon determination of office handling case.

"Sleeping agent" hypo: to run 2 or 3 sleepers in comm. China [Station here] doesn't necessarily have to know @ it since it is being run from Hqtrs. - from AAP to CI Staff - reasonable scenario

Would a 201 be opened or sleeper?

competing of secrecy or being able to keep track of sleeper

Charge of sleeper to Am. soldier defecting to E. Germany - report comes in from reliable source stating that sleeper is providing info.
