SUBJECT: Conversation with IDEN-A on 3 October 1963 with HQS fan (Laird alias)		CAN ADD FIGURES
		REMARKS

Conversation with IDEN-A on 3 October 1963 with HQS fan (Laird alias)

1. I called on IDEN-A at the home of his son-in-law in ZETITAI. IDEN-A reiterated to me from our previous meeting in May of this year, and his greeting was cordial. He said that he was in ZETITAI and was going to New York for the purpose of making the situation of his followers known and to see if he could obtain support for maintaining his activist following in the DR.

2. IDEN-A believes that it has now been proven that no reliance could be placed on any of the Haitian military: EVLUSS/1 is obviously finished; EVLUSS/1 is unwilling to act without positive guarantees of ODYCE's support; Colonel Arrand is able but weak; and General Toussaint lacks courage. Colonel Biatchi is a good man but is being supported by the Dominican government. If anything effective is to be done, it must be done through non-military personalities. Only a national leader who has the support of the people can do anything effective. Had he been in charge of the EVLUSS/1 effort, the peasants would have rallied to the invading forces, but they will not do so to a force under the command of a military man.

3. IDEN-A's camp is still in existence in the DR and contains about 70 men at present. Among these are EVLUSS/4 and Henri Clement. He said that EVLUSS/4 is able but somewhat erratic and he (IDEN-A) fears that he would accept support from any source including the Communists, though he knows that EVLUSS/4 is not himself a communist. He likewise mistrusts the EVLUSS group because its leadership is too far to the left. Again, he does not believe that the members of EVLUSS are themselves Communists, but they attempted to obtain support from Mexican Communists.

4. IDEN-A concerned at the present in obtaining support to enable him to continue feeding the men in his camp. He said that he has been informed that the former followers of EVLUSS/1 are now flocking in, thus placing an intolerable burden on his slim resources. He needs a few thousand dollars for food supplies and hopes to get some help in New York from CARE or some other philanthropic organization.

5. IDEN-A regrets the overthrow of the Bosch government. He says that he is aware of Bosch's shortcomings as an administrator, but that he had the interests of the Dominican Republic at heart and had demonstrated his sympathies for IDEN-A and his followers. Nevertheless,

IDEN-A believes that he will be able to have a friendly relationship with the new regime. He has an appointment to see Ambassador Jose DOMESTICO Miller today and hopes to obtain his support. He also is a good friend of <sup>17/12/72</sup> ~~DOMESTICO~~ and believes this will assist him in good stead. He thinks that the new government must be recognized within 60 days.

6. He has received some aid from DOMESTICO friends and from Cuban and Dominican private individuals. He did not further identify them other than to say that they were not the same persons who had supported EYLUSS/1 who had been counting on the support of Masferrer. This support had not been forthcoming due to the fact that certain of the Haitians and Cubans that Masferrer was supposed to provide, refused to work with Masferrer. IDEN's Cuban supporters' aim is to use Haiti as a base against Cuba. He agrees this should be done.

7. IDEN-A is certain that Garrido informed EYLUSS/1's plans. He said that Garrido was greedy and would take money from any source.

8. IDEN-A says that OBYONE plans to send a new ambassador to Haiti will greatly strengthen the government. He said this fact is known and has caused considerable disappointment among exiles. (I made no comment on this.)

9. IDEN-A had wanted to bring these matters to the attention of IDEN-B. He has no selfish ambition. In outlook, he is a Catholic and a capitalist who wants to do what he can for his country. This is his sole reason for wanting to be President. I explained that his views would be made known to IDEN-B and other interested senior officials. IDEN-B regretted not being able to talk to him personally, but was prevented from doing so at present due to the many demands on his time caused by the present critical situation in the Caribbean.

10. Our parting was cordial and IDEN-A said that when he returned to the DR in the next few days, he would be glad to establish contact with one of my associates should we desire to do this. I told him that should it be necessary to get in touch with him, the person chosen would identify himself as my friend.
